MEMORANDUM

To: Parents of Children Who are Home Schooled
From: Michelle Ferris, Executive Director of Student Support Services
Re: Identification of Students with Disabilities

The Individuals with Disabilities Act (IDEA) requires that public school districts inform and provide certain information to the representatives of children who are home schooled.

Federal and state laws require school districts to conduct activities to locate, identify and evaluate all children with disabilities who are located within the geographic boundaries of the district. These activities are referred to as "Child Find" process. The Child Find requirement applies to all children with disabilities including children who are home schooled.

If you have any concerns about your student's progress or would like to discuss Special Education further, please contact me at (952) 401-5017.

Sincerely,

Michelle Ferris
